

The principal scenes are laid in Russia. The story deals with the life of Vanis Barra, who lives with her parents in a small cottage near the estate of grand duke Valonoff. The duke is a wealthy libertine, his only redeeming virtue being the love he feels for his son, the young prince. On seeing Vanis, the duke has plans to capture her. She falls into his net and he lavishes upon her every wish her heart desires. Finally the duke casts her off for another woman, who for the moment, takes his fancy.

Instead of submitting, Vanis resolves to make all men her prey, and with the duke in the forefront of her venomous hate of all mankind, schemes to inflict a fatal blow to the author of her wrongs. She goes to Paris. The war is in progress. While watching the long line of wounded soldiers pass by she notices prince Valonoff, son of the grand duke. She nurses him back to health and he falls a victim to her charms. Shortly after they are wed the duke sends word he is coming to visit his son. Vanis contrives to have the prince called away before the arrival of his father. She greets the duke, who again makes love to her. The prince returns to find his wife in his father's arms, and commits suicide.

Theda Barra.
Without doubt Theda Barra is the most successful portrait of a vampire roles ever seen in moving pictures. Miss Barra came to this country from France to work for William Fox. A little more than a year ago, although her career in moving pictures has been short, she has made herself talked about in every nook and corner of the land.

Why Suffer From Migraine or Sick Headache?

Dr. J. J. Caldwell says that this exceedingly distressing disease does not shorten life, but does not appear to be curable. Sufferers from this disease are advised to undergo the periodical attacks every few weeks until they are forty years of age, after which the attacks are less frequent, and finally disappear entirely. Palliative measures during the attack are all that it is possible to suggest, while care in the diet is the best preventive measure. An attack may often be prevented by taking two anti-kamnia tablets when the first symptoms appear, and one anti-kamnia tablet every two hours during the attack shortens it, eases the pain and brings rest and quiet. Anti-kamnia tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They quickly relieve all Pains.

18 POUNDS OF BLOOD

Is the average quantity in a healthy adult, but it is the quality of the blood that determines our strength to resist sickness. With weak blood we find cold hands and chilly feet; in children an aversion to study, and in adults rheumatic tendencies.

In changing seasons get abundant fresh air and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals, because Scott's Emulsion is a rich blood-food that will increase both quantity and quality of the blood while it warms the body and helps carry off the impurities.

When multitudes of people are today taking Scott's Emulsion to avert winter sickness, and are giving it to their children, it is careless to neglect its benefits. Look out for substitutes. Scott & Bown, Bloomfield, N. J. 15-26

A Message To Thin Weak Scrawny Folks

An Easy Way to Gain 10 to 20 Pounds of Solid, Healthy Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them through the body.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. A splendid way of working to overcome this sinful waste of flesh-building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to try Sargol, the famous flesh-building agent that has been so widely used in America in recent years. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and see how your cheeks don't quickly fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh form over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. A. E. Ryan and other good druggists have Sargol or can get it from their wholesalers, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each large package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

NOTE:—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.—Adv.

Easy Way to Keep Your Hair in Curl

If you have trouble keeping your hair in curl, you'll do well to try plain liquid salinizer. Apply a little at night with a clean tooth brush, drawing this down the length of the hair from root to tip. The hair will dry in the prettiest wave and curls that you can arrange, and the effect will appear altogether natural. Instead of that dull, dried-out look which the heated iron gives, the hair will be bright, lustrous and beautiful. Liquid salinizer is of course perfectly harmless to hair and the hair will grow as fast and as healthy as ever. If you get a few ounces from your druggist you will find it quite responsive to use.—Advertisement.

KING OF GREECE

Declares Entente Powers Have Violated Greece as Germany Did Belgium.

Athens, Greece, Jan. 26.—King Constantine of Greece is very angry at the entente powers, feeling that they have violated Greek neutrality as Germany did that of Belgium and Luxembourg. In an interview given the Associated Press Tuesday the king expressed his indignation at what he termed the "unheard of high handedness" of the recent action of the allies toward Greece.

King Constantine was greatly moved as he recited one after the other the long list of what he called "the allies' encroachments on the sovereignty of Greece, culminating in the occupation of Corfu and the blowing up of the bridge at Delvinaki.

Allied Press Prevents Facts.
It is in the utmost east, said the king, "for Great Britain and France to talk about the violation of neutrality of Belgium and Luxembourg, after what they themselves have done and are doing here. I have tried in every way I know how to get fair play in the British and French press, and to obtain fair hearing from the British and French public. No sooner had the British newspapers attacked Greece with the most amazing perversion of fact and misrepresentation of motives than I called one of their correspondents and gave him face to face a full statement of Greece's position. I have given a most frank statement to the French press through one of the French newspapers which had been most bitterly attacking Greece."

Situation Too Vital for Dignity.
The only form of public opinion open to me is that of the United States. The situation is far too vital for me to care a snap about royal dignity in the matter of interviews. When the very life of Greece as an independent country is at stake, I shall appeal to the public and again if necessary to the fair hearing which is denied to me by the countries of the allies."

Allies Can't Pay for Suffering.
"Just look at the list of Greek territory already occupied by the allied troops. In proportion to all Greece it is as if that part of the United States which was won from Mexico after the Mexican war were occupied by foreign troops—and not go much as that."

"What matters that they promise to pay for the damage done when the war is over? They cannot pay for the suffering of my people driven out of their homes."

"They plead military necessity. It was under the constraint of military necessity that the allies invaded Belgium and occupied Luxembourg. When the allies invaded Greece, they did so without any military necessity, and which was the only practicable route by which we can recapture my country."

Experts End in a Draw.
He said that the allies in a pique over the failure of all their calculations in the Balkans were trying to divide up Greece their own stupidity and that 50 per cent of the Greeks at the beginning of the war were in favor of the allies, but now not 20 per cent would turn their hand to render them aid.

King Constantine did not feel that he could afford to demobilize while the fate of Saloniki was undecided and while he did not think it probable that Germany would be victorious in the sense that she could take London, Paris, or Petrograd, he believed it would be difficult, if not impossible, to carry on the war.

HAMMERSTEIN, PENILESS,

ASKS AID IN RECOVERING

New York, Jan. 26.—Asserting he is penniless, Oscar Hammerstein, former grand opera impresario, appealed Wednesday to the district attorney's office for the county's aid in recovering an interest which he claims in the Lexington Avenue opera house which he erected several years ago.

He said he made a friendly transfer of the property upon advice of an attorney, and now cannot recover it. Hammerstein originally equipped the Lexington Avenue house with a view to renting it, the grand opera field here, which he abandoned in 1910, signing an agreement not to produce grand opera in this city or Boston for ten years. He said he had received $1,200,000 for his good will, properties and business.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against Hammerstein only a short time ago.

IMPROPER FEEDING COSTS CHANDLER FARMERS HEAVILY

Chandler, Ariz., Jan. 26.—Improper feeding and watering of cows are causing the dairymen of the Chandler district to lose thousands of dollars a year, says George E. Sturgeon, Mr. Sturgeon owns a herd of 25 milk cows and by changing his methods has increased his income $50 a month in the last year. Like many other dairymen, Sturgeon once followed the plan of letting his cows run loose in a 40 acre field, keeping them in a corral and feeding them when the milk was going on. He has now divided his field into six small ones. He does not turn his cows loose until the alfalfa is in the field and thus field till the alfalfa is in the field through bloating. When he turns his cows out of one field he turns in young stock to clean up what the cows have left.

TEMPE PLANS TO DRAIN 9000 ACRES NEAR TEMPE

Tempe, Ariz., Jan. 26.—Bids for the draining of 9000 acres of swamp land near Tempe have been received by the directors of drainage district No. 1. All were in the neighborhood of $45,000. The plan is to construct a single long ditch, about 12 feet deep, below the land. It is expected that many hundreds of acres of land outside the district, but under which the water is rising, will be benefited.

BUCKEY VALLEY FARMERS DISCUSS IRRIGATION DEBTS

Buckeye, Ariz., Jan. 26.—Ways and means of discharging outstanding irrigation debts were the principal subjects of discussion at the annual meeting of the Buckeye Irrigation company, a cooperative organization including all the land owners in the Buckeye valley. C. Zander, Mr. Zander and George Drew were appointed as a committee to find out just how much the company owes and how it can be paid.

Satisfactory progress was reported toward reclaiming 4000 acres of swamp land, undertaken by the company last year. The work is about half completed.

The following officers were elected for 1916: President, George F. Brown; vice president, George Drew; secretary, Walter Haugh; superintendent, Gay F. Vernon; directors, E. L. Hamble, John W. Knight and Fred Walla.

NEWELL SAYS COOPERATION NEEDED IN DRAINAGE WORK

Chandler, Ariz., Jan. 26.—Discussing "Federal Legislation," E. H. Newell, head of the engineering department of the University of Illinois and former chief of the United States reclamation service, said that the sixth National Drainage congress, in session here that national legislation for flood protection and the reclamation of swamp and overflowed lands is a matter of national importance and persons interested join hands to urge it upon congress. He said in part:

"A hundred million dollars in round money have been expended by the United States in reclamation work since the reclamation act went into effect. Conditions are now similar to those which prevailed before the passage of the reclamation or Newlands act. A few far seeing, earnest men were then actively at work, but the great body of the so-called 'practical politicians' were skeptical regarding the importance of the bill.

"The federal government already has in the reclamation service an effective organization of engineers who have built some of the largest works of water control in the country. It also has in the department of agriculture, bureau of soil conservation, an organization and on the work of drainage organization and districts. It would not require much effort to bring them together and make them do effective work. The experience already gained. It is appreciation of this that has induced senator Newlands to push forward a second bill for reclamation and conservation, which he has been advocating since 1902, designed to bring about better cooperation among governmental and other agencies."

FARMERS UNDER PROJECTS PROSPER, SAYS O'DONNELL

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 26.—Farmers under government irrigation projects are prospering as they never prospered before, says I. D. O'Donnell, supervisor of irrigation for the reclamation service in Phoenix.

"Under all the projects the farmers harvested better crops in 1915 than in 1914 and market conditions also showed an improvement," said Mr. O'Donnell. "Another important feature in connection with the financial condition of the farmers is that the bankers, particularly the western ones, are taking the farmer into consideration more than before. There has been a phenomenal increase in the deposits of the banks and the sources of this increase the bankers learned that much of it came from the farmers. They argue that as the farmers are now making a deposit to be a good customer as a borrower, and interest rates have been generally reduced to farmers."
